Council Puts Up Brave Defense Against Citizens Nobody Understands 'Em

At their meeting last night the Carmel City Council—four members—put up a gallant defense against the citizens' criticism of their unwarranted removal of five healthy and handsome eucalyptus trees. They had been misrepresented and misunderstood. And nobody appreciates how grave are the problems with which they have to cope.

Post Graduate Institute Brings 175 Doctors To Carmel Today

New advances in medicine and surgery will be discussed by some 175 physicians from Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz counties convening here today for a postgraduate institute sponsored by the California Medical Association.

Obstetrics, low back pain, diabetes, traumatic conditions and bacterial infections are some of the subjects to be presented by a faculty staff from the University of Southern California medical school during the two-day "refresher" course at the Golden Bough Theater and La Playa Hotel.

Chairmen of the various study sections are: Drs. Gordon O. Kingsley, F. Hilton Smith, Walter H. Farr, and Rex H. Whitworth, Salinas; Edmund W. von Hasseln, Edwin W. Tucker, Charles C. Gratiot, George Thorngate, Capt. Paul E. Spangler, USN, Clyn Smith, Jr., Winton F. Swengel, Daniel J. Waligora, C. A. Spaulding, and John A. Merrill, all of Monterey.

Drs. Tom O. Morris, Carmel; Col. Bruno Jastremski, Ft. Ord; (Continued on Page Fourteen)

The fifth member, Francis Whitaker, who was out of town when the decision was reached to sacrifice the trees, thought the citizens had a point.

City Clerk Lawrence Rose read letters from Col. Philip Schneeberger and Mrs. Schneeberger, Maxine Christensen, Juanita Kirkland, and Gunnar Norberg. They protested the removal of the trees, and in addition Mr. Norberg asked that the council slow up action on tree matters so the people might be aware of requests for tree removals.

Wm. Culver read a letter from the floor to the effect that he represented almost 100 Carmel citizens, members of the Society for the Preservation and Conservation of Carmel, and that many of them had called him and asked him to protest the tree removals.

Councilman John Chitwood: "I am perturbed by all this publicity about these eucalyptus trees. Anyone who is familiar with them knows they are not a city tree. They are generally planted just as a wind break." He added that for "anybody who is so disturbed about these eucalyptus tree removals I would be willing to plant three or four in front of his place."

Highlands Fights Appeal Ruling On Coast Restaurant

The Carmel Highlands Association unanimously went on record last night to uphold the decisions of their local advisory committee to the County Planning Commission and the County Planning Commission in denying re-zoning of property at Garrapata Creek for construction of a restaurant and bar by Steve Patterson on property which he owns south of the creek on the ocean side of the highway.

Youth Center Choses Gay Nineties Theme

Gay Nineties is the theme for this year's Youth Follies to be given on April 26 and 27 in Sunset School Auditorium. Each year Carmel Youth Center members present the Follies variety show as a major fund raising event.

Attending the California Recreation Conference in Sacramento two weekends ago were Malcolm Burdis, Youth Center president, and Jerry Byrne, treasurer. They were accompanied by Jack Giles, Youth Center director.

The County Planning Commission turned down Patterson's re-zoning application several months ago. He appealed this decision to the County Board of Supervisors, which on February 25, voted to return the matter to the County Planning Commission for consideration. The re-zoning of the Garrapata Creek land will be brought to the Commission's attention on March 12 at 10:00 o'clock in the morning when three alternative decisions are possible. The County Planning Commission may reverse their previous decision, uphold their former opinion, or re-open the re-zoning question for continued study and investigation.

Francis Heisler stated to Highlands Association members that the Garrapata Beach area is marked for acquisition by the State Division of Beaches and Parks for public use. He felt that if this proposal and the Master Plan "means anything they should be upheld," and not breached by granting of "special privileges" to individuals. The proposed County Master Plan intends to keep all of the ocean side of scenic Highway 1 free of commercial development. Heisler felt it was "realistic" to uphold the decisions of qualified persons who had studied the zoning of land west of the Highway and recommended that no commercial development mar the scenic beauty of the coast.

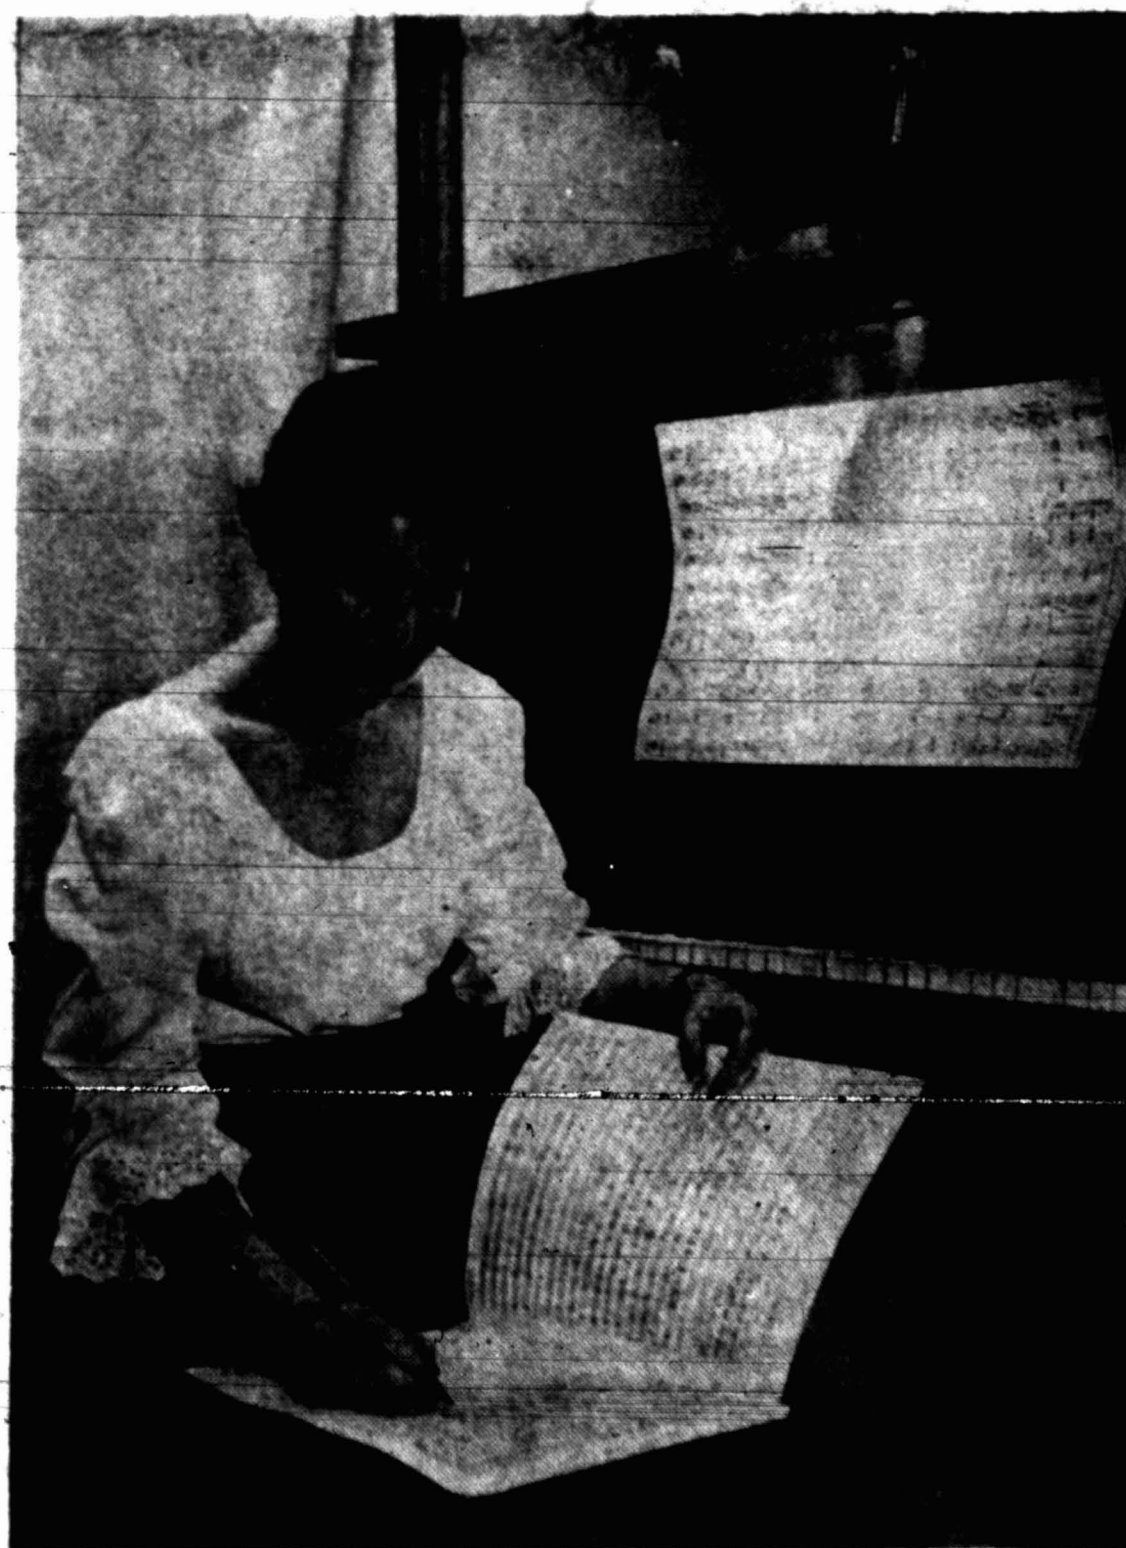

Heisler also stated that as the "sentiment of neighbors" had been acknowledged by the County Planning Commission in denying construction of a "skytel" adjacent to Jack's Peak residential property. He thought that the Planning Commission would consider the expression of Highlands residents in the Garrapata re-zoning matter.

Dr. David H. Fink urged that "the goose that lays the golden egg" should not be killed. Destruction of the scenic beauty of the coast with a restaurant-bar "would" (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Red Cross Drive Solicitors Start In Residence Dist.

The following volunteer solicitors are covering the residence district for the 1957 Red Cross Fund Drive which started this week: Mrs. Gordon Campbell, Mrs. J. B. COMPOSER LANSDALE PODBERESKI

On Sunday evening, March 17 at 8:00 o'clock, the Carmel Chamber Music Society, directed by Gilbert Boyer, will present the fourth concert of its second season. This will be the last concert of the series in the Carmel Craft Studios, because, for the last concert of the series on May 4 and 5, the Chamber group will collaborate with the Monterey Peninsula College Opera Department in supplying orchestral accompaniment for an evening of chamber opera at Sunset Auditorium.

A new Sonata for Violin and Piano by Lansdale Podbereski will receive its premiere at the Society's concert on March 17. Mrs. Podbereski is a native of Philadelphia. She studied there a in New York: piano and theory with Sigismund Stojowski; orchestration with Leopold Stokowski. Her compositions include a symphony, a tone-poem, a half-hour opera commissioned by the National Sport Spectacle; chamber music and piano works which have been played in concert and over the (Continued on Page Three)

CARMEL BASKETBALL

TOURNEY IN FULL SWING
The 10th Annual Carmel Invitational Basketball Tournament hit the boards tonight and will wind up Saturday night in a triple-header which will find six solid basketball teams going for the prizes which await the winners of the consolation round, third-place, and the championship flight.

This year's basketball festival is one of the most interesting to ever be staged at the Carmel pavilion. In addition to the heavily-favored Fremont Indians, this year's tournament has a wealth of individual stars who could steal the show from Coach Ray Snyder's charges. Perhaps the most spectacular player in the tournament is San Ramon's Billy McMillen, a great all-round athlete who thinks nothing of pumping in 40 or more points in a single game. This lad scorched the nets for 46 points in a league game with Liberty High and boasts a 24-point average for his season's endeavors. While the high-scoring Billy dominates the San Ramon squad, his able cohort, John Longaker, supplies remarkable backboard control and spearheads a strong defense which has limited opponents to 42 points for a season average.

While the Carmel Tournament Committee regrets the loss of Monterey High to the Tournament of Champions at Berkeley they also welcome Monterey's Junipero Memorial High to the tournament. Coach Tom Sullivan's Cardinals won the parochial tournament at Salinas and figure to give all the teams a tussle for the Carmel tourney awards. Big wheel in the Junipero attack is Andy Nottenkamper, a 5-11 ball-handling whiz who can hit from any place on the floor and combines excellent shooting with brilliant playmaking and strong defensive play. A perfect foil for the clever passing of the stellar Junipero playmaker is Larry Lotten, a 6-4 pivotman who has all the moves of a finished basketball player. Lotten pushed Nottenkamper for the Most Valuable Player award in the parochial tournament and is rated by Peninsula hoop experts as the top college prospect in the area.

Probably the most crowd-pleasing team in the tournament will be Jerry Hedlind's Gustine Indians who run from the opening whistle until the final buzzer sounds. The Gustine gang won their own tournament in December and the Indians would like to add the Carmel crown to their already brilliant season record. Gustine is sparked by Dwight Davenport, an all-around athlete in the San Joaquin Valley League, who improves as the pressure mounts in a ball game. Dwight was an all-tournament selection at the Carmel tourney last year and won the Most

Coach Bob Hagen's Gilroy Mustangs are one of the most feared teams in the league and figure to finish right near the top when the final whistle blows Saturday night. Boasting a 19-3 record for the season, the Mustangs have a solid defensive aggregation and some of the most accurate shooters in prep circles. Coach Hagen readily admits that his clever playmaking guard, Dick Smith, can shoot with the best of them and has all the moves to beat down a man-for-man defense. The Mustangs also get remarkable backboard control from their jumping-jack center, Julian Aguilar, who has yet to lose the battle of the boards this season.

GILROY COPS DOUBLE-HEADER FROM PADRES

Pushed to the limit in the lightweight fracas before a 36-32 decision, and finding the going rather easy in the varsity tussle, the Gilroy Mustangs won a pair of league games from host Carmel Friday night at the Padre gym. Coach Buzz Rainer's lightweight squad put up a real battle against the heavily-favored Ponies and could have copped the verdict with a little more accuracy at the free-throw line. With Russ Wise and Jack Faia showing the way, the Little Padres shot out to a 16-6 lead in the second quarter and appeared well on the way to victory number one for the season. However, the Ponies came back with a rush in the second half, overtaking the Padrecitos going on for a four-point verdict.

Captain Clyde Klummann, and his red and grey Padres made a game of it for the first three quarters but hit the skids in the final heat to bow out, 46 to 33, in a game which cinched the B-league crown for the Mustangs. As in the first meeting at Gilroy, it was the extremely accurate clutch shooting of Dick Smith which scuttled the Padres. This cool set-shot expert pumped through 4 field goals in the fourth quarter to sew up the game for the champs. While Smith was doing the big damage in the scoring department, Julian Aguilar and Bernard Holback were sweeping the boards and limiting the Padres to one shot on every offensive thrust.

Charley Dawson played an outstanding game for the Padres, chipping in with 11 points and doing an outstanding job in the rebound department. Inept shooting at the free-throw line betrayed the Carmel squad as they made good on only 7 out of 24 attempts.

With this win over Carmel, Gilroy becomes the 1957 B-division champion and a definite threat for the Carmel Tournament title which is contested this weekend. Decked out with three standout sophomores, Gilroy looms as a title threat for the next two seasons and should be the top prep team in the area next year.

GILROY AND HOLLISTER
DOMINATE ALL-LEAGUE
SELECTIONS

Bud Pressley's Hollister Haybalers and Bob Hagen's Gilroy Mustangs picked up most of the votes for the All-CCAL varsity basketball squad last night as coaches and sportswriters gathered at a Monterey conflag to select the best in the league. Gilroy's blue and white squad placed a sophomore guard, Dick Smith, and a senior center, Julian Aguilar, on the first unit and placed a sophomore guard, Charles Meier on the second unit. Hollister, a surging power in basketball this season, placed center Roger Grimsley and forward Tom Mead on the first team and Robert Solano on the reserve aggregation. Rounding out the first team were Pacific Grove's Jerry Millete, Live Oak's Richard Gwinn, and Live Oak's Felipe Torres. The second squad was augmented by Pacific Grove's Jim Fisher, Carmel's Charley Dawson, Gilbert Fernandez from Gonzales, and King City's Monte Andrus and Al Stilwell.

Firehouse Has New Buttercup Kitchen, Pretty Bed Spreads

Try to shake hands with a Carmel Fireman and you'll as likely as not grasp a hammer or paintbrush. The department is in a whirl of sprucing up for Spring, and has much proudly to show already.

Knocking a partition out of their 8 by 8 kitchen, they now have 18 by 12 feet elbow room to prepare refreshments when they turn out 30 strong for drill, or have ladies' night. They have painted the kitchen walls buttercup yellow covered the floor with grey asphalt tiles, and provided the windows with curtains in a bright print of green, yellow and brown.

The bedrooms of the full time firemen have been spruced up too, the floors painted brown, the walls an "antelope"-tan (Fire Chief Robert Smith's description). There are window drapes of bright tan, gold and brown plaid, made for them by Mrs. John Hudelson, with bed spreads to match.

The firemen intend to paint the rest of the interior, and the window and door frames on the outside before they finish this first major redecorating the building has had since 1936.

ART SHOW IN SANTA CRUZ

The Annual Statewide Oil Painting Show, sponsored by the Santa Cruz Art League will be held at the Broadway Gallery in Santa Cruz March 31 through April 30. First prize $100, second prize $50 and three honorable mentions. Mrs. Howland, 116 Market Street, Santa Cruz, will send entry blanks. Pictures received March 17 through March 22 deadline.

TO FLORIDA RACES

City Tax Collector Arthur Plaxton asked for his vacation (March 15 to 28) at last night's city council meeting, and got it. It's to be a whirlwind affair. He and Bruce Glenn will attend the Grande Prix road races March 24 in Sebring, Florida. Spelling each other driving Bruce's Triumph sport roadster, they plan to spend four days enroute, arriving in plenty of time for the warm-ups of this biggest and best and most exciting of all U.S. sports car races.

Art Plaxton's road race enthusiasm goes back to the days when he used to drive a "hopped up Hudson Terraplane, doors welded shut and no glass" on a half mile dirt track in Washington.

The Mercers Have Improvement Plans For Beverly Terrace

William Mercer has purchased Beverly Terrace Lodge, Fourth and San Carlos Streets, and with Mrs. Mercer is living on the property while making plans for enlargement of the premises and the addition of a swimming pool and an off-street parking area to accommodate all guests' cars.

Mr. Mercer also owns the Serra Hotel in Monterey. He and Mrs. Mercer have made their home in Monterey since 1947. Until 1953 Mr. Mercer was a government engineering employee.

"We have always wanted to live in Carmel," says Mr. Mercer, "and we plan to make Beverly Terrace into a motel in keeping with the Carmel atmosphere and traditions."

Philip G. Preble of Preble Realty Company handled the sale.

Redentor Romero, Philippine violinist, will play the violin part of the Podbereski Sonata. He is a student of Naoum Blinder, concert master of the San Francisco Symphony. The composer will perform the piano part.

Guest artist group will be Hartnell College Madrigal Singers conducted by Vahe Aslanian. The Madrigal Singers, comprising sixteen voices sing compositions from the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, featuring rarely heard choral music from Attaignant, Chansons Musicales of 1529 and 1530; also works by Certon, Gastoldi, di Monte, Monteverdi, A. Scarlatti, Vivaldi and Mozart. This group of Madrigal Singers has been chosen by the Music Educators' National Conference to held in Pasadena in April.

Wade Parks, Peninsula concert pianist and teacher, will be guest pianist. He was heard in a fine performance of the Brahms Piano Concerto at the last Monterey Peninsula Symphony concert. Mr. Parks was Symphony soloist at Orchestral Hall in Chicago before the war, was stationed in California during the war, received his Master in Music degree from USC and taught at the University of Oregon. Mr. Parks will play the Brahms Quintet in F-minor. Op. 34, for piano, two violins, and cello. Violinists will be David Hagemeyer and Eiko Yoshizato; violist Marie Sale; cellist Carol Marsh.

"NO SIDEWALKS!"

Dr. Eugene Freedman leaves tomorrow for his home in Hollywood after several days of really looking at Carmel.

"I've been here before," he says, "but this the first time I noticed there are no sidewalks, no house numbers and no street lights except uptown."

Finding the lack of these facilities intriguing Dr. Freedman adds his new knowledge to previous appreciation of Carmel's beauty. He is now retired but formerly was radiologist at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Los Angeles, at the University Hospitals in Cleveland, Ohio, and professor of radiology at Western Reserve University Medical School.

Carmel Jr. Red Cross Helps With Fund Drive, Two Members Honored

BY LINDA MOLL, Senior Class, Carmel High School

One of the least publicized and yet one of the most active branches of the Red Cross is the Junior Red Cross. The Carmel organization is a small but intensely interested group. These young people have undertaken several worthwhile projects this year.

At the beginning of the school year all of the interested teenagers met and elected a Junior Red Cross Council. This council serves as an organizing and governing body for the whole group. In addition the organization has these officers: Chairman, Roger Fremier; vice chairman, George Blanks; secretary-treasurer, Pam Parker.

One of the first projects undertaken by the Junior Red Cross was a membership drive at the Carmel High School. It was conducted at one of the school assemblies. Quart jars were passed among the various classes which vied to see which one could give the most to this worthy cause. A total of seventy-seven dollars was collected with the freshman class having given the most.

At Christmas time the Carmel Chapter of the Junior Red Cross joined forces with the Junior Red Cross Chapters throughout the county to decorate the Fort Ord Hospital. This is a yearly project. The young people enjoy this type of work because it gives them a feeling of happiness at having done something to make someone else's day a little brighter.

Currently in preparation is a large album filled with pictures, articles and other things showing all the ways of life on the Monterey Peninsula and especially of Carmel. When completed, the album, if judged interesting enough, may be sent around the world to Junior Red Cross groups all over the globe to give them some idea of our customs, dress and habits. The Carmel Chapter became interested in the idea after seeing a similar album from the Orient.

Most recently the group spent a Saturday morning at the Carmel House filling Official Solicitors' folders with all kinds of pertinent information, stickers and cards for the Fund Drive Campaign which starts tomorrow. By doing this, the young people helped to cut down on the job of the Red Cross volunteer workers. In connection with this, the Junior Red Cross has also distributed posters.

Perhaps the best example of the fine work done by the group was the honor recently awarded to two boys. This summer at Vancouver, British Columbia, the Canadian Junior Red Cross is holding a large convention. Six young people from the entire Western States are to attend. Among these six are Roger Fremier, Chairman of the Carmel Junior Red Cross Council, and George Blanks, vice chairman.

The Junior Red Cross has accomplished many things this year. They have high ideals and above all are willing to do anything to serve.

Denver Sherman

Denver Sherman died yesterday afternoon in Los Gatos of a heart condition, according to word received today by Carmel friends.

Mr. Sherman lived in Carmel for seven years before moving to Los Gatos two years ago. He is survived by his wife Mrs. Rieka Sherman.

Funeral services will be held on Friday morning at 11:00 o'clock in the Chapel of the Hills, Los Gatos.

Friends wishing to make donations in memory of Mr. Sherman are asked to do so in the form of donations to their local Heart Fund.

Larry Rose On Carefree Cruise

Woes, worries, joys and jokes of being Carmel's City Clerk will be abandoned by Larry Rose on March 15 when he cruises aboard the carrier USS Hancock with Carmel companions George Tomlinson, Rudolph ver Mehr Jr., Dean Rowe and Van Treat.

Larry, George and Rudolph drew numbers out of a hat at the Navy League dinner on February 21 and found they were the lucky Carmel persons to be driven by Navy League members to Alameda Naval Air Base on March 14, spend the night at BOQ (Bachelor Officers' Quarters) on the base and next day cruise on the Hancock out of the Golden Gate. Only care they will have is each to supervise a boy chosen by peninsula high school principals as most worthy to miss a day's schooling for a cruise on a carrier. Carmel High School students are to be Dean Rowe and Van Treat.

Everybody will be back at work on Monday.

Lippincott Co. Brings Out New Piggie Book By Betty MacDonald

Hello, Mrs. Piggie-Wiggle is the latest book by Carmel Valley author Betty MacDonald. This is her fourth children's book, published by J. B. Lippincott Company, with Mrs. Piggie-Wiggle as the main character. In the latest volume Mrs. Piggie-Wiggle has a magic cure for the behavior ills which beset even the very finest children, showing-off, being a crybaby, bullying, whispering and slowpoking through life.

"Children are my great passion and my house crawled with them all the time I was writing The Egg and I, The Plague and I, and Mrs. Piggie-Wiggle," says author Betty MacDonald.

"I had so much help with Mrs. Piggie-Wiggle that I almost never got it finished. Most of my best writing has been done to the accompaniment of heavy breathing, sniffing and fat hands reaching up and poking the wrong key on the typewriter."

The back jacket of the book shows Betty MacDonald introducing books to three of her charming grandchildren.

Expectant Mother Classes To Start Tuesday Afternoon

The Monterey County Health Department in cooperation with the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Red Cross announces a new series of classes in Mother and Baby Care for Expectant Mothers. Classes will be taught by Mrs. Clare J. Short, public health nurse of the County Health Department.

The course, starting on Tuesday afternoon, consists of a series of eight, two hour lessons and will be held weekly on Tuesday afternoons from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock at the House of Four Winds, Monterey Civic Clubhouse, next to the County Building on Calle Principal.

For registration or other information call the Health Department FRontier 2-4583.

Public Asked To Meeting

The public is invited to attend the annual meeting of the Carmel Foundation next Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the Parish House of All Saints' Church at Lincoln and Ninth Streets. Announcement will be made of new officers and directors, reports will be given of the activities of the past year and there will be discussion of plans for the coming year. The meeting will be followed by tea at Town House where the craft exhibit will still be on view.

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Récital by Cesare Viletti, lyric tenor of the Metropolitan, La Scala and San Francisco opera, with Henry Holt at the piano, became the fifth and final event in the series of the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association Friday night. Rarely is heard a tenor of Viletti's quality of voice and development or so purely an Italian bel canto; indeed, I know of no other of his calibre anywhere. A program from Scarlatti to moderns, which included a group of five of the finest Schumann lieder and opera excerpts, were all sung with exceptional artistic perception and dynamics that was a joy to listen to in a voice with typical Italian warmth.

At the piano Holt used rare regard for period, making the piano sound as light as a harpsichord for the Scarlatti, Sarti and Handel numbers with finely wrought phrasing and sympathy with Viletti's finesse. In the Schumann and operatic arias stronger support seemed called for, especially since all lieder of Schubert and Schumann type are balanced compositions of equal vocal and instrumental importance. This he gave quite adequately to the English group. However, the acoustics of these school auditoriums play tricks according to the placing of instruments on the stage, reminding, as stated for at least two years, the crying need for a large concert hall on the Peninsula.

Schumann's Mondnacht received a rendering of such perfect pianissimo and atmospheric color that both singer and pianist seemed immersed in a moonlight glow. Widmung, Dein Angesicht, Anden-Sonnschein and Der Hidalgo were also given with profound and dramatic expression. In English, Hageman's Music I heard with You, Dello Joio's There is a Lady Sweet and Kind, Wintter Watts With the Tide and six opera arias (three added for encore) were equally fraught with intensity of tone and dramatic feeling. It is seldom an opera singer is so good a recitalist.

Here's hoping the Peninsula Community can hear Viletti again for the audience's enthusiasm knew no bounds and praise was voiced for the Association's choice and Mrs. Dyke's efficient management.

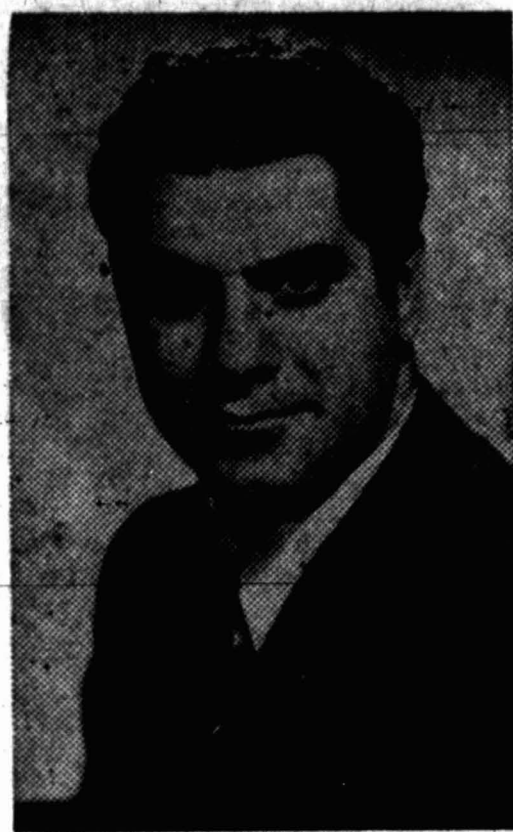

A generous arrangement for the local public has been made. All Symphony Association tickets are to be honored both in Carmel and Salinas, and the Monterey Concert's Association's tickets to be interchangeable with Seaside's Community Course, subject only to prior seating rights in each place. This makes for broader possibilities of hearing music offered. The Symphony's next pair of concerts takes place on April 7 in Salinas and April 8 in Carmel.

Greatly to my regret attendance at the Monterey County Symphony's concert for Children at Kings Hall of the Navy School in Monterey was not possible. Nothing is more important to the developing of future musical appreciation in the community, for having heard Gregory Miller explain symphony instruments and analyse a Beethoven work at the Carmel Children's Concert last year, I know the attention he received from the children and the enthusiasm that was created. This National movement of Symphony Concerts for Children was first started by Ernest Schelling when he was conductor of the New York Philharmonic at the time I lived in New York, and it has now grown to be a 'must' wherever a symphony exists with public-spirited business men to sponsor them, knowing that such influence is all toward important community development of the best kind. Thus may America ultimately become the most musical country in the World.

CANNERY ROW GALLERY

The March show at the Cannery Row Gallery will include paintings by William Burke, Sam Colburn, Gerald Wasserman, Ellwood Graham, Alice Price, Francesca Greene, Joe Ataide, Janet Ament, Victor Di Gesu and Barbara Stevenson, with sculpture by David Tolerton and Paul McReynolds.

The show opening is on Sunday afternoon from 3:00-6:00 o'clock with music by the George Grimes progressive jazz trio. The public is invited to be present.

Frank Guarrera, popular young baritone of the Metropolitan Opera who performs Friday night, at 8:30 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium for the Carmel Music Society, has a unique record as an American singer. He not only appears more often at the Metropolitan than any other baritone, but is also a regular guest star with the opera companies of San Francisco, Cincinnati, New Orleans and Philadelphia. He is known to radio and TV audiences through such shows as Omnibus, Voice of Firestone, This is Show Business and Opera Cameos. Concerts have taken him all across America, to Puerto Rico and Canada, and he has won a further audience through his phonograph recordings of great operatic baritone arias.

LIVING IN LA JOLLA

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence de Adlershalm have left Carmel to live in La Jolla. The de Adlershalm maintained a real estate business in Carmel and are similarly occupied in this new locale. They invite any Carmelites passing through La Jolla to visit them.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

CONSERVATION PHOTOGRAPHY

Two young friends of mine, both in their thirties, have for a number of years been making a notable contribution to the cause of conservation through their photographic work. They are both full-time professionals, one in the field of cinematography and the other specializing in black-and-white stills. Both will be very much in the public eye this month.

Charles Eggert of Barrytown, N. Y., is the photographer who made two well-known movie films of river trips down the Yampa and Green Rivers in Dinosaur National Monument. The first, entitled This Is Dinosaur, was made for the National Park Service; the second, Wilderness River Trail, was done for the Sierra Club. They have been widely shown throughout the country and their effectiveness in the cause of wilderness conservation is proved by statements of the Echo Park proponents that the films did more than anything else to clinch the victory of the conservationists in that historic struggle.

Eggert is now on a tour of the West with the film that he made in the summer of 1955 down the Green and Colorado Rivers following the historic trail of Major John Wesley Powell in 1869. His program will be given in Carmel on March 22. His was the seventh successful voyage the length of the rivers and will be the last, because the Bureau of Reclamation is now beginning the construction of two dams, Flaming Gorge and Glen Canyon, which will effectively block any future adventures of this kind. Thus it becomes an historic landmark in the loss of America's pristine wilderness.

Philip Hyde of Greenville, California, and formerly of Carmel, shared with Charles Eggert much of the credit, photography-wise, for the successful outcome of the Echo Park dam controversy. His photographs were the outstanding feature of the book edited by Wallace Stegner, This is Dinosaur (Knopf, 1955), which had such an important influence on the controversy. Two exhibitions of his photographic prints of Dinosaur National Monument have been circulating for the last five years through the libraries, museums and art galleries of the country. They tell the story at a glance of the great beauty of the region that would have been lost, if Echo Park dam had been authorized by Congress.

On the 15th and 16th of this month Philip Hyde will have an exhibit of his prints of the Glacier Peak region of Washington's Northern Cascade Range at the Sierra Club Wilderness Conference in San Francisco. He was commissioned by the Sierra Club to visit the region last summer and record the beauty of its wilderness. Some of these prints have been reproduced in the Sierra Club Bulletin magazine number and have been given extraordinary praise by connoisseurs of fine photography.

Discussions are now going on between the Forest Service and the conservation groups as to the final boundary of the Northern Cascades Wilderness Area. Photography like that of Eggert and Hyde plays an important part in the final determination of such controversies. Pictures, whether still or moving, frequently tell a story convincingly that might suffer much from being bound up too hopelessly in a maze of printed words. More power to these two young photographers in their promising careers!

LAST SCREEN TOUR OF THE SEASON

The Monterey Peninsula and National Audubon Societies present Fran William Hall of Northfield, Minnesota, on the evening of March 14 at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium.

For this, the final Audubon show of the season, Mr. Hall will show his full length color film, Hawaii, U.S.A. Although this is not a "statehood" propaganda film it shows how modern the Islands are and how the American "melting pot" works. Head of the Department of Photography at Carleton College, Mr. Hall spends his vacations making films. He has been doing this since 1940, with several years off for technical work with the air force.

In this film of the Islands, he and Mrs. Hall went far afield. In one case they had to be rescued by helicopter. They show pictures of birds heard about but seldom seen. It is on these remote dots of land that birdlife in the Hawaiian chain flourishes.

The flower colors are amazing and seem to be exaggerated, but the Halls' film shows real colors.

A dinner for the Halls will be held at Holiday Inn at 6:00 o'clock prior to the lecture. Friends and members wishing to participate are asked to call MA 4-6433 for reservations.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3681.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

With the beginning of Lent, we wish to call your attention to the book lists for Lenten reading which we have for you at the Loan Desk. Separate lists for both Catholic and Protestant readers are here. These lists contain a variety of reading materials. It has been pointed out that many people find little time or opportunity for meditation these hustling times. During the Lenten season it is particularly fitting that we make a time and opportunity for reflective reading of religious material, with the hope that the thoughts engendered during such reading will go with us all the year. We shall have a shelf of books on religious subjects near the front door to tempt the passer-by in the right fashion.

It is natural that from time to time this library should pick up a new book on sports cars, because the streets of Carmel seem to mirror a keen interest in them. We have a new one this week, by Colin Campbell, with the title The Sports Car. This is a detailed discussion of the inside working of sports cars, and it is illustrated with many drawings and photographs. This is no easy book filled with pretty pictures but rather a somewhat technical explanation of the designing and building of sports cars and their subsequent performance.

We have two new books on the atom, both of them by important men in the field of atomic research who played prominent roles in the development of the bomb. Dr. Arthur Compton called his book Atomic Quest. It is a very personal narrative of his own work with atomic power and some "discussion of the future of freedom from a Christian's point of view". Dr. Ralph Lapp wrote the other book, Atoms and People, in which the emphasis is on the future of atomic power and what lies ahead. Dr. Lapp has added to his book a glossary of terms used in discussing atomic science. Both have what looks to be a good index.

An impassioned argument against alcohol and its effects upon the one who drinks it is The Cup of Fury by Upton Sinclair. He says, "I compile a list of the drinking people I have known. Two score of them went to their doom, eleven as suicides. This is their story." It is not a pretty story but it is a true one. There is some mention of Carmel and of friends of the author who lived here.

An interesting book is Heroes of the Army, by Bruce Jacobs. This is actually a list of the winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor, and of the adventurous

The Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services (MPVS) will present Dr. J. Michael Hagopian in two successive Arm Chair Cruises, The Middle East Aflame and Incredible India in Sunset School Auditorium on March 15 at 8:30 o'clock in the evening and on March 16 at 2:30 in the afternoon.

The Middle East Aflame is a color film by Dr. Hagopian about Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Israel, Jordan and Lebanon. Incredible India, also in color, took Dr. Hagopian two years to film. He lived in the homes of the people he photographed and shared their hardships. Dr. Hagopian first went to India as visiting professor of International Relations at Benares Hindu University and later was on the faculty of the American University of Beirut.

Tickets for the Arm Chair Cruises may be obtained by calling Mrs. Hal Armor MA 4-4214.

deeds they performed which won them the honor of the medal.

Among the new novels is Daphne Du Maurier's The Scapegoat. Due to the Du Maurier popularity we are providing three copies of this book, which is the story of an exchange of identity by two men who looked exactly alike. Elizabeth Corbett has recently published The Head of Apollo, the story of a young music teacher in the mid-west. Born in Wedlock is the title of the book by Margaret Echard which she has called "an imaginary memoir". The story is told by a child, and it combines childhood frankness with a naive outlook which makes for a charming tale.

The week's new mysteries are the two latest by Rex Stout and Ngaio Marsh. The titles are included in the bulletin board list, but actually the titles make little difference because when you like Stout and Marsh you like Stout and Marsh, and that's all there is to that.

MPUCOW DAY OF PRAYER

On Friday the Monterey Peninsula United Church Women will hold a World Day of Prayer at the First Methodist Church in Pacific Grove, at Lighthouse and Seventeenth Streets. This year's service was written by an Hungarian refugee, Mrs. Bela Vassady, and will be used in over 100 nations. Locally, Mrs. J. H. McCartney will lead the Service at 11:30. Mrs. Scott Hammond of Berkeley will be the afternoon speaker, following a devotional by the Reverend Dale Nicholson. All women are invited to bring a box lunch and come. Tea and coffee will be served.

DRIZARI HEADS WRITERS

Election of officers of the California Writers Club was held at a meeting in the Carmel home of Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Silva on Saturday. Mrs. Gladys Silva acted as chairman. Reelected to office were the following: Nelo Drizari, president; Mrs. Nora M. Law, vice-president; Olivia Young, treasurer. Mrs. Rachel Learnard Snyder was elected for a two-year period as member of the Board of Directors. She fills a vacancy left by Mrs. Elizabeth Madison, who resigned because of business pressure. Reappointment of Miss Eva Dunbar as secretary was affirmed by the board.

Edith Stitt

Mrs. Edith Evalynn Stitt died on Monday afternoon in a Carmel rest home after a long illness. Before entering the nursing home two years ago Mrs. Stitt made her home for three years in Pacific Grove and Monterey.

She was born on October 19, 1876, in San Francisco. Her husband Samson W. Stitt died in 1916.

For many years Mrs. Stitt, a registered nurse, practiced her profession in Reno, Nevada and later in San Jose and Santa Barbara. She was a member of the Methodist Church in Reno.

Survivors are a son, Milton W. Stitt of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Ellen Stitt Wilder of Coachella; two nieces, Mrs. Ferdinand Kebely and Miss Belle Irwin, both of Berkeley; a nephew, Clinton De Voss of Fresno; and two grandsons, Gregory and Duncan Stitt of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium in Pacific Grove. Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

This sort of weather brings small ambition to garden, or even think of gardening. Just the same, right around the corner we know that sunshine lurks, so while we are viewing our sordid looking gardens, we had better begin to plan. The number of weeds just now are astronomic and the thing to do, is to get out and scrape your ground. Scraping is easier than digging and with the soil soft and pliable, scraping does the trick.

I have always resented the fact that I live within a few blocks of the ocean and never have I seen a seagull honor me with flight over my home. All of a sudden, this locale swarms with seagulls. Their music fills the air, their air-dance is beautiful to look upon and I know the birds are having a picnic. Reason, for this sudden flight inland, is the sad condition of our once beautiful artichoke fields. Can it be called progress that such valuable land has been abandoned for agriculture and turned into residential? No matter what we think, or wish, it has come to pass and bulldozers have plowed another portion of the artichoke fields and the rains have done the rest.

The land down there is sodden and bare, with water standing feet deep all over the place. The birds are doing their part to remove insects from the land and it reminds us of the story of Salt Lake, when seagulls swarmed to Utah to save the crops from locusts.

It is difficult even for me, whose life revolves around gardens, to have any constructive thoughts at this time. The seeds that I had broadcast a few weeks ago have been washed to the surface and down the drain, which means that if I wish to have any Spring flowers from seeds, the job has to be repeated. I'll let you know if I can raise the enthusiasm to repeat.

While gardens are in this sorry condition, what do you think I am going to do? Me? I'm going to "take a powder" and retreat to sunnier climes, hopeful that upon my return the land and weather will give me enough incentive to go to work.

WATER COLOR EXHIBIT OF BIRDS

The Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History is having a showing of water color portraits of California birds by Mrs. Jean Petite of Seabeck, Washington, through Sunday. Seabeck is on the Hood Canal near Seattle, where the Petites have retired after many years in the public schools of Washington and Oregon. Through the years Mrs. Petite's interest in birds has grown from nature study in elementary school to state and county fair exhibits, magazine publications, ceramics, and educational slides for school use, her present specialty.

Mrs. Petite observes especially the plants each species likes, and her backgrounds are as delightful as her birds. While she has painted the birds of Arizona, New Mexico, and Mexico, as well as those of Washington and Oregon, those shown at the Museum are all California birds painted locally during previous time spent on the Monterey Peninsula and in Carmel Valley.

"Just As Beautiful As Ever"

Mrs. H. P. Miller of New York, and her mother, Mrs. Herman Spoehr of Palo Alto, spent two days in Carmel last week and, after an absence of eight years Mrs. Miller thought "Carmel is just as beautiful as ever. I was prepared for changes due to the increase in population, but think the citizens have done a good job keeping Carmel so much like it used to be."

Mrs. Miller (Hortense Spoehr) grew up in the Eighty Acres and attended Sunset School in the days when her father, the late Dr. Herman Spoehr, was assistant director of the Carnegie Coastal Laboratory situated at Junipero and Twelfth Streets.

Mrs. Spoehr was delighted to visit Point Lobos and see how beautifully it is kept in its native state. Dr. Spoehr was one of those instrumental in having it become a State Park. After leaving Carmel Dr. Spoehr was for many years head of the Carnegie Institution on the Stanford campus.

Sharing all Mrs. Miller's delight in re-visiting Carmel was her childhood playmate and school friend, Mrs. Roderick Wilson.

Mohlers Home

Hazel and Charles Mohler and young son Conrad are settled in a house at Eleventh and Lincoln Streets, with their possessions collected and "almost arranged." They left last summer for a writing trip to Europe and first published article on their explorations is the piece by Chuck on East Anglia in this month's Sunset magazine.

Although Europe was "wonderful" both Chuck and Hazel are happy to be in Carmel "the place to which you always want to come back." They are also delighted to find a real Carmel house "with two fireplaces."

Sunset Teacher Returns

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Lockwood are leaving on Friday for their home in Clear Lake Highlands after three weeks in Carmel as guests of Mrs. Lockwood's sister, Mrs. L. S. Harvey. For 25 years Mrs. Lockwood was a teacher at Sunset School, retiring three years ago. Back in Carmel after a year's absence, Mrs. Lockwood says the town has "grown so" but she still "loves it" and "likes to know what all the children are doing," even if many of her former pupils are no longer children.

Satchells Have A Girl

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Satchell have a daughter, Cynthia, born on February 18 in the Peninsula Community Hospital. Young Cynthia has two older brothers, William, four years old, and Ian, one and half. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Satchell, Sr. of Carmel.

Audubon Field Trip

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society plans a field trip to Moss Landing on Saturday. Those attending are asked to meet at Construction Road and Highway One just north of the bridge over the Elkhorn Slough at 9:00 o'clock in the morning.

James Fisher Born

Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher of Piedmont are parents of a second son, James, born on February 26. Their older son is 20-months old John. Mrs. Fisher is the former Margaret Sherman Lea, for some years organist at the Church of the Wayfarer. A portrait of Mrs. Fisher, painted by Mary Lindsay-Oliver is currently on display at the Artists Guild of America Gallery.

John Mott Married

Mrs. Eleanor L. Mott has been having a visit almost every weekend from her son, John, and his bride of a month, the former Shelley Floto of Mill Valley. The young couple are making their home in San Jose where John is a freshman at San Jose State College. He entered college this fall after completing his army service with 15 months duty in Germany. John and Shelley were married in Reno on February 4 "the day of the big blast". Fortunately they had departed from the explosion area an hour or so before the disaster occurred.

Ann Clayton Waits For Daddy

Ann Clayton postponed her seventh birthday party until her father, Dr. Roderick K. Clayton, returned from New York where he gave a seminar at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. He returned to Carmel last week and on Saturday Ann invited "one friend for each year" to have lunch with her and attend the matinee at the Carmel Theater. Dr. and Mrs. Clayton went to the movies, too. Dr. Clayton was "Ann's special party decoration" says Mrs. Clayton. The "one for each year" were Missy Lofton, Terry Head, Lissa Scherman, Carol Anne Fredericks, Kathy Benson, Jill Whitcomb and Mary Tilden.

Niels Returns Before Parents Go

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Niels Reimers were on the Golden Gate Bridge to watch the carrier Bonhomme Richard enter San Francisco Bay after a four months tour of the Pacific. Then they drove to Alameda, where the carrier berthed, to greet their son Ensign Niels Reimers. Niels spent last Saturday and Sunday here and plans to return again before his parents leave on March 26 for Norway. Mr. and Mrs. Reimers are flying the Arctic route, with a stop in Greenland, to Copenhagen. Then they go to Oslo to see Mr. Reimer's father and spend the rest of their visit in Stavanger.

While they are in Norway they will be joined by their older son Gunnar who is serving with the Air Force in England and saved up leave to be with his parents while they are abroad.

"I don't think we will be away too long," says Mrs. Reimers. "Niels Sr. has just bought a new tractor for the valley farm and he hates to go away and leave it. He'll be anxious to get back to use it."

In Woman's Who's Who

Mrs. J. William Mac Lennan (E. Cashion Mac Lennan), Carmel artist to be included in Who's Who of American Women, a new publication being compiled by A. N. Marquis Company, publishers of Who's Who in America. Radcliffe College is co-operating in assembling material for the volume of biographies of "women who stand out from their contemporaries by reason of their position or achievements." Inclusion is by invitation only.

Mrs. Mac Lennan is already listed in Who's Who on the Pacific Coast and Who's Who in Art.

Trying For Sunshine

Kippy Stuart is "trying for some sunshine somewhere" this week. She spent a few days in the Bay area attending the theatre and concerts in San Francisco while the guest of Dr. Helen MacDonald in Berkeley, then started on her sunshine quest "wonder where I will find it," says Kippy. The Pine Cone says "Tut-tut, Kippy!" all this fine Carmel soaking-in growing moisture and our garden columnist goes chasing an old drying-up thwarting sun. Just wait and see how lush we'll be when Kippy comes back from some arid sunny area.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone

Olsons Visit Sister

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Olson and son, Jan, of Stromsburg, Nebraska, took advantage of the pre-spring lull on their farm to visit in Carmel with Mr. Olson's sisters, Mrs. George B. Turner and Mrs. Reuben Johnson. The Nebraskans were given a smorgasbord dinner party on Thursday evening at the Turner home when added guests were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, with sons Doug, Kent and Roddy, and Miss Juanita Arnold. Before coming to Carmel the Olsons spent several days in the desert at Barstow seeing friends they made when Mr. Olson was music instructor and Mrs. Olson English teacher at Barstow High School.

WINTER TWILIGHT IN THE POET'S GARDEN

Half-seen distant trees a faint blue fringe,
Misty on the silver-gray horizon . . .

Like stray autumnal sails in lingering voyage,
Slowly furled parchment leaves glide
Downward to their final rest
Upon the waiting, widespread earth . . .

As the last tinges of rose fade from clouds,
Soft rain-flowers are gently falling,
Brushing my face with tender petals,
While night comes quietly —

Imperceptibly moving on shadowed feet —
To reclaim once again her own.

—MARGARET APPLETON.

I STAND TALL ON A MOUNTAIN

I stand tall on a mountain, with starlight in my hair,
And the thundering Pacific at my feet;
I hear the ocean crashing with a steady, timeless beat,
And hold a century crumpled in my hand.

I stare at stolid stone and steel —
Monotonous miracles of architecture —
And see the boisterous, bawdy days when all this land,
Walloped by this same broad sea,
Was a mighty challenge to a race of mighty men . . .
Rough, bearded, and unprincipled men,
Hardy men, who found a hardy land . . .
Who were equal to its lawlessness,
And conquered its lawlessness, and were conquered.
They lie silent now beneath a century of progress . . .

While I stand tall on the mountain, with starlight in my hair,
And the thundering Pacific at my feet,
I hear the ocean crashing with a steady, timeless beat,
And hold their century crumpled in my hand.

—CATHERINE ISABEL SILCOCK.

RAIN

The vertical rain, so straight, so true,
Falling the whole dark forest through —

Gentle and full, from top to root,
Blessing the orchard, bare of fruit;

Grace of the sky, unbrought by man,
Following some great inwrought plan;

Falling without a wayward line
In silver threads, long-drawn and fine.

Far through its delicate curtains folds
The browning hills give up their golds.

The distance flowers in violet-blue
Giving the hills a listening hue . . .

Where is the secret? and for what eye
Does beauty pour from this dark sky?

—D. H.

Weekend Excitement

Mrs. Laidlaw Williams spent last Saturday night in Davis as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Ledyard Stebbins. Dr. Stebbins, a geneticist, recently returned from a trip to India and on Saturday night showed pictures he had taken there to a group of his students at the University of California, Davis campus. Mrs. Williams enjoyed the pictures but not the shrieking of fire sirens and engines which awakened her later in the evening. The fire was a few houses away from the Stebbins' home and the neighborhood turned out to see the excitement. "Mostly noise," reports Mrs. Williams, "but after we went back to bed it seemed no time before the cows and the chickens welcomed dawn."

Mrs. Stebbins is planning to be in Carmel next week busy remodeling her home here.

Students Hear Rigoletto

The music appreciation class at Carmel High School, with instructor John Farr, attended the Cosmopolitan Opera Company's presentation of Rigoletto in the San Francisco Opera House on Friday evening.

Adults accompanying the students were Mrs. Farr, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Adams and Mrs. John Nesbitt. Everyone met in San Francisco for an Italian dinner before the performance and drove home afterwards. Students who made the trip to the city were Ronnie Adams, Diana Burk, Brian Casiday, Shirley Flint, Marsha Gifford, Sally Magee, Greg Scherman, Bonnie Shafer, Veronica Taylor, Vivian Davis, Judy Sargent and John Morse.

Trimbles "View" Skiers

Dr. and Mrs. William H. Trimble drove to Mount Rose last weekend to "see the skiers as we can't risk breaking a leg" says Mrs. Trimble. They report the weather, snow and skiers were all "wonderful". On the way home Monday the Trimbles ran into heavy snow on the Donner Summit, the only difficulty they encountered on the entire trip.

Special Masonic Meeting

Carmel Lodge No. 680 F & A M will have a special meeting on Friday night when first degrees will be conferred at the Masonic Temple. All sojourners are invited to attend.

St. Patrick's Supper and Dance

A St. Patrick's Day Dance will be held in the Carmel Valley Inn on Sunday, March 17, sponsored by Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church. This is an annual affair which includes a buffet supper and dancing from 9:00 to 1:00 o'clock.

Mr. Larry Gilbert is chairman of the dance and H. O. Sand is in charge of ticket sales. The music for dancing will be provided by the DeMaria group. Other members on the committee are Leo Weber, John Urlin, Don Weber, Mrs. Carmelo Panetta, Mrs. Charles Augustus, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Berta, Vic Silva, and Barbara Burdick.

A prize hog and a phonograph will be given away to the lucky holders of winning door tickets.

Dr. MacWillie Celebrates Birthday

Every five years Dr. John MacWillie's two sons come to Carmel to celebrate a birthday with him. Last Tuesday was Dr. MacWillie's eighty-fifth birthday and Colonel Donald MacWillie came from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and John MacWillie, with his wife, from San Andreas, to be present at the dinner party at Cademartori's that evening in honor of their father's birthday. Forty friends in all gathered for the affair and to wish Dr. MacWillie health and happiness.

Attendant For Linda Darnell

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Smalley were in Los Angeles last weekend for the wedding of movie actress Linda Darnell to Mrs. Smalley's cousin, airline pilot Merle R. "Robbie" Robertson.

Mrs. Smalley was one of Linda's wedding attendants wearing a French organdy ribbon lace dress and hat, french blue in color. The bride wore a dusky pink ballerina length peau de soie gown and a long dusky pink wedding veil admirably suited to her dark-haired beauty.

The marriage took place in St. Francis Chapel in the Old Mission Inn in Riverside with the reception at Barraclough's in Los Angeles.

"It was very exciting," reports Mrs. Smalley, "with Life, Look, and International Press photographers all taking pictures and movie and television celebrities everywhere."

Stearns Carmelites Now

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stearn moved from Carmel Valley on Friday into the house which they have remodeled and enlarged at the corner of Monte Verde and Thirteenth Streets. Karen, the Stearns' oldest child is a freshman at Carmel High School. Ralph Jr., is now a student in the seventh grade at Sunset School and Sally is enrolled in the fourth grade at River School. Both of the younger children are attending Carmel schools for the first time and "just love them" says Mrs. Stearn.

H. S. Fashion Show Committee

Chairmen for the Carmel High School Fashion Show were chosen this week. The show, which will be presented on March 22, is staged with the cooperation of the whole student body. The committee chairmen serve as directors and organizers of the various student groups.

Decorations and staging is divided into four committees; Tweed Champe has the responsibility of theme and decorations, Gregg Scherman is working on construction, David Tobiasen on lights and John Meyenberg on sound. The tickets, house, and programs are in the capable hands of Paul Prince and Mike Raggett. Working with the three branches of publicity are Joan Engle in posters and art, Pat Timothy in radio and television, and Linda Moll in newspaper coverage. Stephanie Craviotto heads the models committee. In charge of the music for the program is Luraine Dearing. The P.T.A. is going to provide the refreshments for the evening. At the head of all these are Carey Edson and Fred Bruggeman who are co-chairmen of the production.

The show begins at 8:00 p.m. and runs until midnight. A dance will follow the fashion parade.

Stewarts Move To Highlands

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Stewart are moving to Carmel Highlands. They have bought the Van Swearingen property immediately adjacent to the Riley ranch on the edge of Gibson Creek. At present they are busy moving from their Carmel home but expect to be settled in the Highlands by Monday. After that the Stewarts will be found in "the house at the end of the first driveway in the Highlands east of the Highway."

CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Permanent health and happiness—gained through the spiritual understanding of man's true relationship to God—will be dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on "Man" is the Golden Text from Romans (8:16): "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (243:32-3): "Inasmuch as God is good and the fount of all being. He does not produce moral or physical deformity; therefore such deformity is not real, but is illusion, the mirage of error."

Matthew's account of Christ Jesus' healing of the man "sick of the palsy, lying on a bed" (Matthew 9:2-8) will be included in the readings from the King James Version of the Bible.

Council Puts Up Brave Defense Against Citizen Protests Of Trees

standing and misstatements." Councilman Carl Patnude wanted to inform the people that a new tree is always planted when a tree is removed.

Councilman James Buffington said the people should know, "We give careful study to all these applications."

Councilman Francis Whitaker pointed out that just a month earlier the council had denied permission to remove the eucalyptus tree on San Carlos Street, and then reversed its decision. He said the eucalyptus trees in front of the Hill property had done no damage except to the curb. There is no sidewalk there. "We have to pay a price for trees in this town. I have just returned from driving 4,000 miles, and I think we pay little price." Only three council members were present on the tree inspection tour for the eucalyptus trees, and only three were present on the tree tour before this meeting, he pointed out. He thought that since the trees are supposed to be inspected by the council "as a committee of the whole" all of them should be along. Also, he thought that when a matter of removal comes up, it should be postponed until next meeting.

The mayor said that in the case of the San Carlos Street tree the property owner had put the city on legal notice as to liability if any accident should occur.

City Attorney John Morse: "I was tempted to say something at the last meeting. I don't think the fact that a person claims a tree generally is dangerous makes you the insurer of the tree." He added that he had discussed the matter with P. A. McCreery, city insurance representative, and had concluded that "an appeal of that nature is not sufficient unduly to distress the council members."

"The insurance carrier is not unhappy with the amount of damage from falling trees throughout the history of the town," Morse continued. "Trees falling down have not presented a problem to them."

Francis Whitaker put the cap on the matter of citizens putting the city on notice of liability: "How far are we going to go on being buffaloed."

ruin the established economic asset" of the whole Monterey Peninsula.

"The coastline is a commercial value," he stated, "it brings tourists to the whole community. It should not be ruined for an individual. Visual beauty should not be sacrificed to dollars and cents."

"It is also an asset to the permanent population," he continued.

T. R. Balentine told Association members "it is the worst step possible to give up our former position and allow the first step in breaking the zoning of the coast."

"Let us urge the Supervisors to leave the coast alone and unanimously re-affirm our previous decision," said Balentine.

Mrs. E. J. Hudson pointed out to Highlands Association members that taxation of coast highway property was burdensome to owners who could not develop their land. She urged that the State be asked to acquire land west of the highway south of Carmel Highlands.

"Owners are desperate," she said.

John Zellhoefer thought it "realistic" to allow commercial establishments along the highway "a positive attitude towards progress."

"Down the coast is the only way the Monterey Peninsula can expand," he stated.

Glen Minshall did not see why it was not "feasible, practical and sensible" to preserve 20 miles of coastline untouched.

"Let us protect civilization," said Ephraim Doner, "it only exists where there is refuge for people from people."

The Highlands Association also decided last night to send letters protesting billboards along highways to both federal and state legislators upholding bills against billboards in Congress and the Legislature.

They also delegated Francis Heisler to represent them in protesting California Water and Telephone Company price rate raises at today's hearings in Monterey.

Highleys Have Twins

Aviation Bo'sn mate Donald Leroy Highley and Mrs. Highley have three sons since the birth of twins Donald Lee and Ronald Loy at Fort Ord Hospital on February 20. Their older brother Mark Leroy, 18 months old, has not met the twins yet as they are staying in the hospital until April because they were a month premature. They are both husky young men, though, their mother reports. Donald weighed five pounds, four ounces and Ronald five pounds, five ounces at birth. Their father is stationed at the Naval Facility in Monterey. Planning to come to Carmel Valley to see the boys next summer are both sets of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Turner of Enid, Oklahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. George Highley of Okeene, Oklahoma.

7 Requests For Tree Removals; Three Are Granted

There were seven tree removal requests for action at last night's city council meeting. Three were granted. All three are pines, leaning, and judged to be damaged by the last storm to such an extent that they are in danger of falling. They are: two on the south side of Seventh Street between Guadalupe and Forest; one at Eleventh and Torres, Northwest corner of intersection.

Other applications: W. E. Van Loben Sels for removal of pine at Carmelo and Seventh; denied.

For removal or trimming some of the trees at the rear of Sunset School because they shut out the light. Permission to trim granted.

Kathryn E. Wait for tree removal at Fifth Avenue East of Carpenter, denied.

S. A. Agnew, for the removal of the palm at Carmelo between Eighth and Ninth. Held over until next tour.

Evelyn M. McCracken for removal of pine at First between Mission and Junipero. Denied, but some limbs will be removed.

Councilman John Chitwood and Street Superintendent William Askew asked permission to remove a limb on one of the pines in the city parking lot. It blocks off light from the street light. Granted. Some citizens will express surprise that there are any limbs left to remove on the denuded pines in the parking lot.
